Primary concerns, by individual

The primary concerns or arguments in opposition to the proposal (i.e. in support of the staff recommendation to refuse the application) included:

- impacts of the high-rise, high density development on existing townhomes and low-rise buildings, and especially nearby seniors' homes
- insufficient infrastructure and amenities to accommodate this scale of development
- insufficient parking to accommodate this many new units; existing parking and traffic issues will be exacerbated
- impacts on pedestrian safety with a rise in traffic
- impacts of privacy for neighbouring properties
- environmental and greenspace impacts
- additional noise pollution
- will have shadowing and view impacts on neighbouring properties
- the scale of the proposal does not fit the area or land use policies or zoning, does not contribute to the streetscape, does not transition well to existing residential, and does not represent thoughtful and careful intensification

- potential to set precedent for increased density and mass in the area
- the development would not be in a walkable area, with no LRT in proximity, and is the opposite of the City's "15-Minute" neighbourhoods goal
- an incomplete public consultation / community engagement process and lack of a vision supported by master planning
- impacts on public health and safety in light of the current pandemic
- existing homes in the area will most likely suffer damage during construction of the development and will incur financial expenses for these unplanned repairs
- will negatively impact existing rental and property values
- additional density will make the area less desirable and will in turn attract less desirable tenants
- does not take into account the development already planned and/or under way in the area
- will put increased demand in local schools and services
- will result in a substantial amount of extra garbage from new tenants and the need for communal dumpsters, which will increase the likelihood of pests
- many homeowners in the area bought there to start families and were not aware of this proposal, which will impact quality of life
- does not add affordable housing options for the area
- does not benefit the community in any way

Primary reasons for support, by individual

The primary arguments in support of the proposal (i.e. in opposition to the staff recommendation to refuse the application) included:

- the proposal is a good opportunity for intensification and for economic boom in Orleans
- that tax revenues and Development Charges from the development will help pay for municipal services and programs related to growth, could create jobs and have positive economic spinoff effects on the community

- it would be an enticing and affordable property for seniors, as shown through other Lépine developments, with on-site amenities, and larger, more accessible and high quality apartments geared to independent living
- will not extra traffic congestion in and of itself and measures can be taken to ensure Innes Road can accommodate any extra traffic
- many signatories of a circulating petition against the development signed on false assumption about lack of parking
- will have less impact on greenspace by building up instead of out
- would be ideal for those seniors who have family in the area and /or who live nearby and are looking to downsize
- would add valuable rental housing stock and diversity to the area
- there are inconsistencies in the staff report and their application of Arterial Main Street designation as it applies to this proposal, and inadequate argument to support the recommendation for refusal
- the City approved the transportation report for the proposal and did not previously raise concerns about traffic
- the buildings would have generous setbacks that allow for comfortable transition to existing
- the City had not requested at the May 22 LPAT hearing (in respect of OPA 150 settlement regarding maximum building height in the AM zone) that the decision be effective as of the date of the oral decision, and, as such, the application must be judged on the basis of the absence of building heights in the Official Plan
